Hundreds of Junior League of Washington Volunteers to Step Up and Serve DC for Inaugural Day of Service

WASHINGTON, DC — On Saturday, May 6, 2017, the Junior League of Washington will hold its inaugural Day of Service – a volunteer event that will engage League members and their friends and families in meaningful projects around the Washington, DC, community.

An expected 300 volunteers will volunteer at nonprofits and government agencies in the DC metropolitan area, including Capital Area Food Bank; A Wider Circle; Horton’s Kids; DC Public Library; and DC Department of Parks and Recreation.

“As we enter into our 105th year, the Junior League of Washington is proud to hold our first-ever Day of Service to honor, transform, and engage our community,” said JLW President Elizabeth Keys. “This Day of Service will leverage our trained volunteers to have a magnified, lasting effect that we hope will touch and inspire every DC-area resident.”
